HONGRONG, JANUARY 31st, 1871. THE difficulty which, as recently mentioned, has arisen at Formosa with regard to the especially as it appears that the present Consul is disposed to support the Chinese trade which led to the disturbance at the end of 1868, and which since that time had is directly designed as a blow at foreign doubt that it is a distinct violation of the treaty. The manner in which this embargo has been enforced is extremely simple. It seems that the Taoutai of the Island, who further imprisonment. resides at Taiwanfoo, sold the exclusive right to trade in Camphor every year to a Com pany of Cantonese, and that large sums were over, was fined 40 shillings for assuulting his burn-terms that I should have threethus made both by the . Taoutai and the monopolists. The latter, who were sided by the Taoutai and his soldiers, forced the producers to take their Camphor to recognise stations, and took the strongest measures to prevent their selling it to foreigners. The produce collected in this manner found its way to Banca, a town about twel-e miles up the Tamsui River, where a market was established, in which foreigners were nominally allowed to trade; but here it seems a piece of underhanded action, such as those by which the Chinese so frequently succeed giving the shadows and keeping back the substance, was put into practice. The prices be had refused to ship when an opportunity at which the Camphor was offered were so high as to preclude foreigners from entering rived here in the capacity of ab ordinary seathe market with any chance of making a profit upon shipments to Hongkong. The end desired was thus completely attained. The monopolists having then put down foreign competition, started an agency Hongkong, and being in possession of all the Camphor produced, they took care to ship only limited quantities, and so raised the price to three times its original cost. This system, which amounted to nothing less Dock Company; and fined 20s, ; is default, fourthan a shameful piece of oppression, was very lucrative to the Mandarins, to the monopolists, to the soldiers in their pay, but 35, upon the charge of Edward Thomson, a ruinous to the producers. The latter consequently endeavoured to free themselves from this injustice; and took steps to induce foreigners to buy the produce direct from them, which with the aid of some of the country people was done. The foreign purchasers who had to convey their produce down from the interior were frequently molested by the mandarin soldiers, and many of the natives found aiding them were taken up, put into prison, beaten, and in some cases even beheaded. This system was backed up by Mr. Gregory, H.B.M. Consul, who-by subject will doubtless be generally endorsed: what arguments it is difficult to conceivehald that the monopolists had the right to interfere with the foreign trade. not only by preventing their purchasing Camphor, but by importing drug from Hong- the Brenner Pass, scoupies also three days, a of the enormous profits made on the Cam- increased to three days. This resulted in the Amping Fort being taken by Lieut. Gunnox, and the final settlement of the dispute; as finding that coercive measures were useless, the Taoutsi from that time gave up every idea of re-establishing the monopoly. As already noticed, an attempt has recently been made to re-establish the old state of affairs, and it appears that, trate, to four months' imprisonment. notwithstanding all that has taken place, Mr. Consul GREGORY is disposed to uphold the Lain, printer to the Daily News," to lend him monopolists, and there seems to be no doubt Tls. 1,0 0, in pretext that he wanted to get hac that his having expressed such an opinion an order for Grey Shirting which he had is the chief reason why the Chinese have had the tomerity to attempt to re-establish money, was used to obtain possession of an order the embargo. In the face of the Trenty for four chests opinm, and was not repaid to stipulations that foreigners shall be per against the prisoner which would have been mitted to bring goods down from the interior | brought forward had that above mentioned of the country on the payment of the stipulated Transit Dues, and in face of the fact that by the French Treaty, which on the most favoured nation principle applies to other nations, it is expressly stipulated that there shall be no conlitions in trade to the detriment of the foreign purchaser, it is certainly to be greatly regretted that this question, which had been entirely settled, should be revived, and it seems unaccountable that the present Consul could not maintain the ground which had been gained and narrowly rescued from being frozen to with much difficulty by his predecessor, Consul GREGORY, it appears, was acting in accordance with the views of Sir RUTHERFORD Arcock, who for reasons best known to himself seems bent upon doing his utmost Messrs. TRUBNER & Co., Paternoster Row, to cause the trade at Formosa to be put a stop to. By last accounts from home, it appears that the withdrawal of the consulates has not yet been finally decided upon; and it may be sincerely hoped that when the true nature of the obstructions Mr. L. I think the reason for this quite plain. As at Versailles, so at Rheims, Sedan, Chalons, and all the large towns, a large number of offi-cers are quartered. Take Versailles, where the King, Crown Prince, and hundreds of Princes and Staff officers are quartered, and daily want a good breakfast and a better diaper; if the shop and hotel keepers did not feet sure of being paid for all they supplied, how long would their shops and hotels be provisioned? As it is, in the country you can get nothing at all, while in the towns there is abundance, simply because the country people have their goods stolen in the country, but paid for if they can get them into the towns.
